

Answers About Shopping

A cosmograph is a map or diagram of the universe or cosmos, often showing the positions of stars, planets, and other astronomical bodies. It can also refer to a Read more Shopping +1 What are 3 major types of clouds? Asked by Wiki User The three major types of clouds are cirrus (high-altitude clouds that appear thin and wispy), cumulus (fluffy and white clouds often associated with fair weather), and stratus (low, grey, and featureless clouds that cover the sky like a blanket). Read more Shopping +1 Where can you buy dry ice in Miami? Asked by Wiki User You can buy dry ice at specialty stores that sell party supplies, welding supply stores, or grocery stores with a large selection of frozen goods such as Publix. Read more Shopping +1 How do you buy a baby cub of a lion or a tiger do you need a permit or something and how much would each cost?

Asked by Soccerkar1 It is illegal to buy a baby lion or tiger in most countries without proper permits and licenses due to regulations on exotic animal ownership. The cost can vary. Read more Shopping +3 Why does a river have nuclear energy? Asked by Wiki User Rivers do not naturally have nuclear energy. Nuclear energy is generated through nuclear reactions in power plants, not from rivers themselves. Rivers may be used for nuclear energy. Read more Shopping +1 What time open in Thanksgiving? Asked by Wiki User Many stores and businesses have varying hours on Thanksgiving, with some choosing to stay closed so employees can spend the holiday with their families.

It's best to Read more Shopping +1 Where you can buy natural and genuine black diamond beads? Asked by Beacabgemsinc You can buy natural and genuine black diamond beads from jewelry suppliers, gemstone dealers, or online retailers specializing in gemstone beads. Look for reputable sellers. Read more Shopping +1 How would you say 70 g m⁻² d⁻¹? Asked by Wiki User Seventy grams per square meter per day.